

Crystal Quick Reference

Quartz - Faden

Faden Quartz is a form of tabular quartz (tabby quartz) that has one or more lines running through. This crystal is easily programmed and should be cleansed immediately upon purchase. It holds its charge or program for a very long time. In addition to the properties below it has all the properties of Quartz.

It can be programmed to help in healing specific complaints. It can also be programmed for multiple uses such as healing, chakra balancing, protection, etc.

Faden Quartz is excellent at repairing energy fields. It helps to activate and integrate the chakras. Very good at helping to remove unhealthy emotional attachments. It is also great for providing stability while you are working on deeper healing issues.

When it encounters holes in the energy field, aura or a chakra, it helps to fill that void with a pure and nurturing energy. It is said to be good at working with broken bones, torn ligaments, strained muscles and other tissue damage.

It is also good at helping to heal relationships if healing is possible. If healing of a relationship is not possible then it helps the party(ies) understand why the split happened and hopefully leave on better terms.

Astrological: All

Chakras: All