

Crystal Quick Reference

Selenite - Orange

Orange selenite is an orange variety of selenite.

It gets its orange color from the inclusion of hematite.

Colors range from a very light orange/peach color to a bright orange or a deep dark orange. The amount of hematite in the specimen will determine the color.

Orange selenite has excellent grounding properties due to the inclusion of hematite.

It primarily works on the sacral chakra. This chakra deals with sexuality, sexual function, female productive organs, lower GI tract, etc. It will also help with the root chakra.

Just like selenite, it is excellent for protecting against electronic smog, negative energy, psychic attack, etc.

This crystal also helps with spiritual awakening.

Orange selenite will help keep negative energies from accumulating on the wearer. There is a relationship between the amount of selenite and the amount of negative energy it can handle. High concentrations of negative or low vibrational energies may require larger pieces to effectively deal with.

People born under the Zodiac sign of Taurus may have a greater affinity for this crystal than others since Taurus is an Earth sign.

Chakras: Sacral, Root

Astrological: Taurus