

Crystal Quick Reference

Thulite

Thulite is a calcium aluminum silicate hydroxide, often written as $(\text{Ca,Mn})_2\text{Al}_2(\text{SiO}_3)(\text{Si}_2\text{O}_7)\text{O}(\text{OH})$ or sometimes simplified as $\text{Ca}_2\text{Al}_2(\text{SiO}_3)_2(\text{OH})$.

It is in the zoisite family but with manganese replacing the calcium which gives it the pink/red coloring.

Ca,Mn: Calcium and Manganese

Al: Aluminum

Si: Silicon

O: Oxygen

OH: Hydroxyl group

Thulite was first discovered in Norway in 1820. It is named after the ancient Greek area of Thule which is believed to be modern day Scandinavia. In ancient Greece and Rome, Thule was believed to be the northernmost point of the world where the sun never set. It is the national crystal of Norway.

It connects with the Universal Life Force allowing it to regenerate the body and the spirit.

It is a crystal of love. It opens and energizes the heart chakra. It helps people feel optimistic, at ease with themselves and others, and increases loving feelings towards yourself and others. It helps to develop and increase compassion both for you and others.

This crystal also opens and energizes the third eye chakra. It will help to stimulate and develop psychic abilities.

Thulite helps to combat self-sabotaging behavior and ideas. It helps you to recognize your true potential and to break the bonds of fear keeping you from achieving your goals.

Crystal Quick Reference

Thulite

As Thulite helps you to release fears and doubts, lightness and happiness will begin to fill your being. It can help you to take joy in all things, even the little accomplishments. It can help with relationships.

Thulite helps with emotional healing and dealing with past heart aches. It also increases self-confidence.

This crystal also helps to energize the higher heart chakra which in turn will help you be more aware of the infinite love of the universe and higher beings. It also helps with forgiveness. It aids in spiritual growth.

Thulite is a crystal of transformation and helps you to become more aware of your spiritual essence, your higher self, higher beings, and the divine essence of the universe.

Chakras: Heart, Third Eye, Higher Heart